

Dead End Rhymes

Poems

15/9/2015

Nick Parastatidis

1. "The Beast"

It's not the monster outside that howling at your door, but the beast inside that feeds your soul...

2. "Dead End Rhymes"

You once told me, hope gives you strength to live

I answered that hope is a quick way to die

Let me dwell in my kingdom of lies

Where pain and sorrow eternally lies

Let me dwell in my kingdom of lies

Where eternity in a moment dies

In my world sun is the blackest star

And the moon never rises

In your world to dream is another sign of weakness

Pathetic life forms you call yourselves gods and messiahs

But my dreams are your nightmares

Don't wake the spirits that sleep inside an angry rhyme

3. "The Profound Lord"

Oh my lord
how profound
your depthless words
they sound

And how accurate
abstract images
of nonsense
you paint

And how divine
you look,
when you talk
about the righteous good

But you know
deep in your heart, that all these are
fairy tales
for the blind mass

It's unfortunate

never the less, that

your fortune

upon them it depends...

4. "Pale Obscurity"

Pale obscurity
flourishes in
the colourful forest
of deceit

Pain is a pleasure that you can't resist
emphasized by happiness that
persists

A dreamy oblivion
of a mind
that can't sleep

5. "Between Heaven and Hell"

Upon the cliffs of Hell I stood gazing at the heaven's seas wondering on this controversy and how much freedom (of choice) there is in it

6. "Few lines for Homer"

The blind bard
took his lyre
and sang about human mortality with
words carved in immortality

7. "Shores of Lethe"

I pity you humanity
your glory lies
into vanity
ephemeral gods
into a perpetual course to the shores of lethe
and after all that
will be said and done
some bones and ashes
will be the reminder of us...

8. "In These Lines...."

In these lines
some may find a sense
and others might not.
The truth is that both are right

9. "Lucifer's Apology"

And when Satan
stood before God
to be judged for the rebellion
against him,
he told:
"Every son wants
to become like his father"

10. "Shattered Mind"

Have you ever danced with the devil and his legions under a moon with no religion?

Have you ever dreamed
of the Babylon whore
dancing for you on
the seven horns?

Are these thoughts
of a shattered mind or dreams of a fool in the night?

If these words confuse you then ask me not cause I'm just the writer
not the mind...